A man who journeyed from Jerusalem to Jericho was robbed and hurt by thieves. There happened to pass by that way a priest, but he crossed over to the other side to avoid him. A levite looked on him, could see he was hurt but also passed over on the other side. Finally a man from Samaria saw him, came near and bound up his wounds. He then put him on his own mule and asked an innkeeper to look after him until he returned. This good Samaritan was a kind friend to this stranger, just as Jesus wants to be to us.
